STORY + QUIZ PACK

Milo and the Missing Blanket

Milo’s missing blanket | Suggested ages 3-7

Read, think, and create

A complete story, questions to talk about, and room for your own ideas.

Story and draw-and-tell: pages 2-4

Quiz and response worksheet: pages 5-6

Separate grown-up answer guide: page 7

Name: _____ Date: _____

Print on US Letter at actual size, or choose Fit for A4. Use single-sided printing for activity cards. Black-and-white printing is suitable.

Read aloud together when helpful. The cover illustration is shared artwork, rather than a new picture for each scene.

Where is the blanket?

One bright morning, Milo the Moon Bunny packed apple slices and three little cups for a friendship picnic. But his favorite blanket was missing. Its usual place was empty.

Milo looked high and low. A worried feeling made his tummy flutter. He took one slow breath and made a plan: ask kindly, listen carefully, and stay together.

A friend can help

At the clover garden, Milo met Pip the field mouse. “Will you help me find my blanket?” Milo asked.

“Of course,” said Pip. “Friends can look together.” They searched the garden slowly and took turns sharing ideas. Even when a guess was wrong, nobody laughed.

Time to lend a paw

Near the little bridge, Nora the robin's basket had tipped over. Berries had rolled everywhere. Milo wanted to hurry, but he stopped to help.

Together, they picked up every berry - one, two, three, four, five - and put it gently in the basket. Nora thanked them and joined the search. Now three friends walked side by side.

Room for one more

On the sunny hill, Toby the turtle sat alone. “You can come with us,” Milo said. “We are looking for my blanket, and we would like your help.”

Toby's face brightened. The four friends searched the picnic path. They walked slowly so nobody was left behind. Then it was time to return to the basket.

A happy discovery

Back at the picnic place, the friends heard a rustle. There was the blanket, tucked in the grass behind the basket! While they were away, a breeze had carried it through the open window.

“We found it!” Milo said. He thanked Pip, Nora, and Toby. Finding his blanket felt wonderful. Having three caring friends beside him felt even better.

A picnic for everyone

Milo spread out the blanket. Everyone had a place to sit and a share of the treats. They played a gentle game and told silly stories.

“Asking for help is brave,” Milo said. “And helping someone else can lead to a new friend.” Before they went home, the friends made a promise: use kind words, lend a hand, and include someone who feels alone.

“Can I help?” “Would you like to play?” “Thank you, my friend.” Small words could make a big difference.

A little more to discover

Talk together

What happened at the beginning? What changed? Tell someone your favorite part and why you chose it.

Make it your own

Have a pretend picnic with toys. Make sure every toy has a place and a share of the pretend food.

My picture or idea

Adults can write down a child's words. Different drawings and personal responses are welcome.

STORY QUIZ

Think about the story

Milo’s missing blanket | Suggested ages 3-7

Name: _____ Date: _____

Read each question together. Circle one answer. You can point or say your answer, too.

1. What is Milo looking for?

A. A red kite

B. His favorite blanket

C. A storybook

2. Whose spilled berries do the friends pick up?

A. Toby the turtle's

B. Pip the mouse's

C. Nora the robin's

3. Where do they find the blanket?

A. In the grass behind the picnic basket

B. Under the little bridge

C. On the sunny hill

YOUR IDEAS MATTER

Draw, tell, or write

Milo’s missing blanket | Suggested ages 3-7

Draw a picnic with room for a friend. What would you share?

How does Milo help Toby feel welcome?

Talk together

Which kind words could you use when you invite someone to play?

A grown-up can write down your words. There is more than one good way to draw or explain an idea.

ANSWER GUIDE

For the grown-up

Milo’s missing blanket | Suggested ages 3-7

Keep this page separate from the child's activity. Read directions aloud when helpful, and invite the child to explain their ideas.

Story quiz answers

1. B - His favorite blanket

Milo packs for a friendship picnic and notices his favorite blanket is missing.

2. C - Nora the robin's

Nora's basket tips over near the little bridge. Milo and Pip stop to help her.

3. A - In the grass behind the picnic basket

The friends return to the picnic place and find the blanket tucked in the grass behind the basket.

Drawing and discussion

Milo invites Toby to join the search. The friends walk slowly so nobody is left behind. Children may describe or draw either idea.

These pages are for shared practice, not a timed test. For younger children, read aloud and accept spoken or drawn answers. Invite older readers to find words in the story that support an answer.